

اللغة الإنجليزية

الأسئلة المعلنه للعام الدراسي 2010

9

Question 1:

(Narrator): Listen to a scientist talking on the radio.

(Man): A recent study of the kinds of food people prefer to eat determined that children and teenagers around the world like to eat almost the same things. No matter how different their countries might be, young people—especially small children—enjoy eating foods that are rich in sugar, such as chocolate. And, of course, potato chips are an international favorite with children. While these food preferences are shared by millions and millions of children and teenagers, this all changes as they grow older.

(Narrator): What is the main idea of the talk?

What is the main idea of the talk?

- A Young people everywhere like similar foods. *
- B Too much sugar is unhealthy for small children.
- C People from different countries prefer different types of foods.
- D Chocolate is more popular with young people than are potato chips.

An * indicates the correct answer.

Question 2:

 Choose the words that belong in the blank.

We were told that students who read in bad light _____ damage their eyes.

- A are liable to*
- B derive from
- C thought of
- D get away with

An * indicates the correct answer.